

MANCHESTER

By GWENDOLYN RICHARDSON

On Sunday, June 4, at the New Zion Baptist Church, the North Carolina Group is sponsoring a program with Booker Hines as chairman. This club rendered a program in March, and by popular demand, will present another. The uplifting and soul-inspiring services formerly brought by Mr. Hines to the congregation and his many friends will never be forgotten by those familiar with Northside churches and activities. This forthcoming program will be another of his achievements. The city's most talented artists will appear. The Children's Missionary Society will present a program at the vesper hour at Bidwell Street Presbyterian Church on this Sunday, May 28. This society, known as the Doers of Good Will, extends an invitation to all to attend this service, which will begin promptly at 5 o'clock. The musical extravaganza that will be given Friday, May 26, at New Zion Baptist Church promises to be an entertaining and interesting affair. Quartet, instrumental and vocal selections will be featured, as well as dramatic readings. A benefit musical concert will be given Friday evening, May 26, at the Avonworth High School Auditorium, at 8:15. It is for the benefit of the Ben Avon Community Recreational Center.

The fashion show, given by the Ne Plus Ultra Club last Friday evening, was unique, and included the displaying of beautiful clothes worn by the following models: Josephine Black, Berjean Persons, Rachel Tate, Adelaide Richardson, Vanilla Prince, Flossie Tate, Josephine Crunkleton, Martha Tadom and Tony Parker. The music was furnished by Carroll Washington and his orchestra, with vocal selections by Alonzo Rutherford. Comments on the styles were given by Gwendolyn Richardson. Luther Johnson, Jr., youthful baritone, was guest soloist on Tuesday, May 16, on Radio Station WWSW. The program was presented by students of the J. M. Conroy Junior High School. Raymond Primas, a student, was instrumental in securing the services of the singer. Mary Massie, a Manchester young woman, is participating in the current popularity contest being sponsored by the Poro School of Pittsburgh. The Westminster Guild has laid definite plans for its mother-daughter party, to be held Thursday, June 1, at the home of the sponsor, Mrs. B. A. Pryor, 309 Jacksonia avenue. A picnic is being planned also, to take place the second week in July. Gwendolyn Richardson was the main speaker at the young people's meeting at the Waverly Presbyterian Church Sunday afternoon, May 21. The subject was, "Actions Christian Young People Should Take to Eradicate Discrimination." Pre-Decorate Day Dance will be sponsored by the Hostess Club on Monday, May 29, at Socialist Lyceum, corner of James and Foreland streets, featuring the popular Cassinelli Brothers. The time is 9 p.m. Do you wish to go Hawaiian? If so, attend the Hawaiian Revelries given by the Ces Jennesses Modernes Thursday evening, June 8, at the beautiful Harlem Casino. There will be music by Hanna's Hawaiians, and special features, including performances by a Hula dancer. Ernie Harper and his fine orchestra will furnish music. Delicious refreshments, unique novelties, and charming hostesses will combine to make your evening a pleasant one. All Christian Endeavorers are urged to attend the Quiet Hour service Sunday, May 28, at 4 o'clock, at the Manchester Presbyterian Church, corner Chateau and Franklin streets. This will be the closing service until the fall.
